

CommercePulse | Executive Overview

October vs. November 2019 E-Commerce Growth and Funnel Shift

275.19M

November Purchase Revenue

13.78M

November Sessions

3.70M

November Active Users

916.94K

November Purchase Events

19.67%

Revenue Growth vs Oct

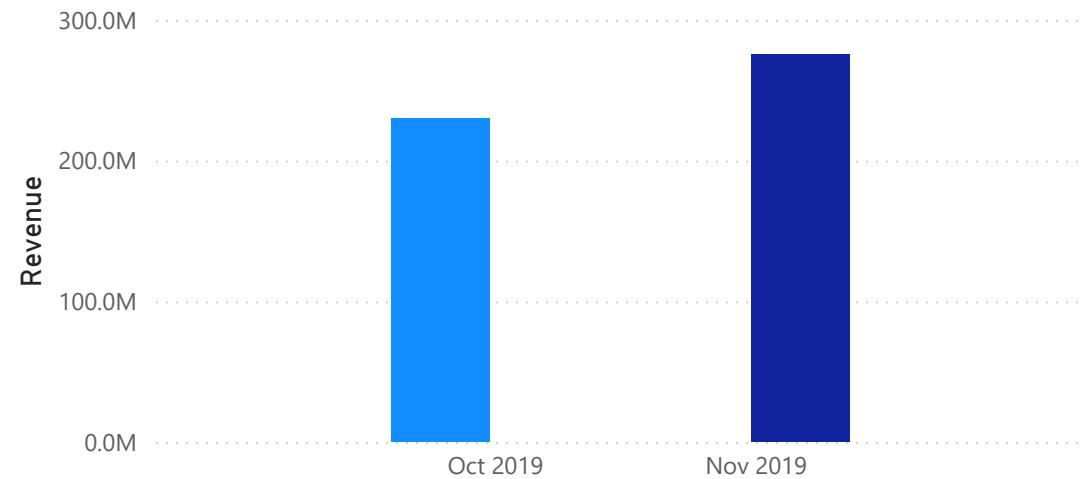

6.39

View → Cart Change (+pp)

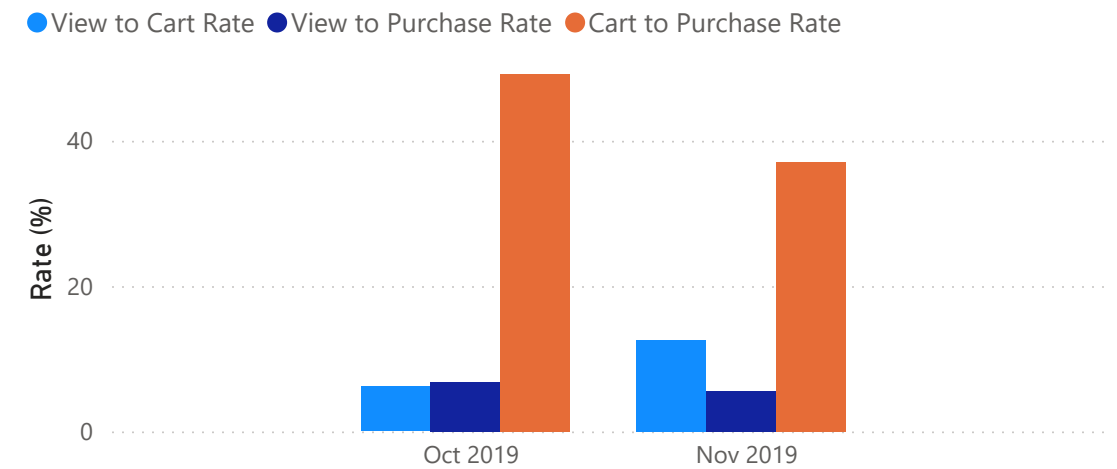

-12.07

Cart → Purchase Change (pp)

Purchase Revenue by Month

Session Funnel Rates by Month

Key Takeaway:

November revenue and activity increased sharply, but downstream funnel quality weakened. Users added products to carts at a higher rate, while cart-to-purchase conversion declined.

CommercePulse | Category Growth Diagnostics

November revenue growth was concentrated in a few categories, while cart-to-purchase efficiency weakened across major segments.

28.79M

Electronics Revenue Delta

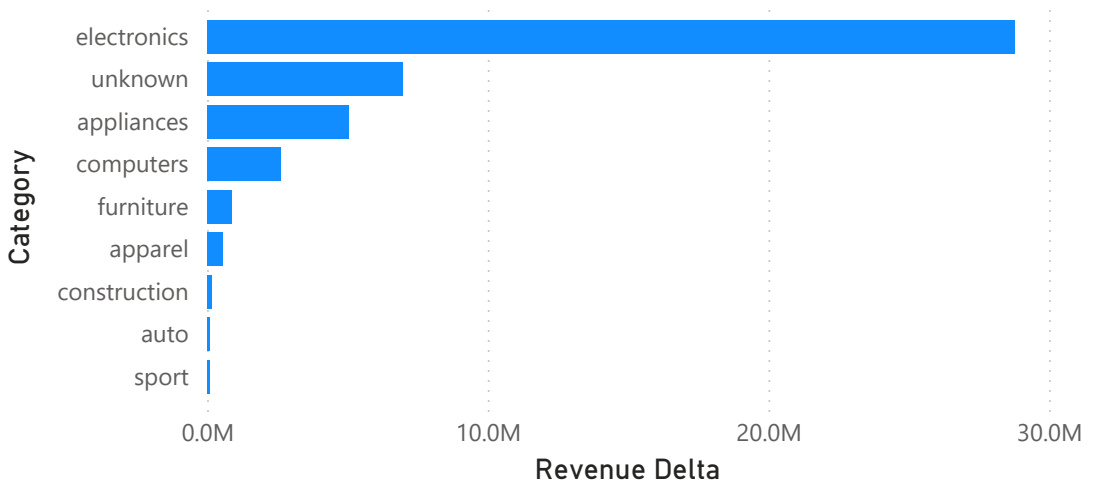

-11.35

Electronics Cart→Purchase Change (pp)

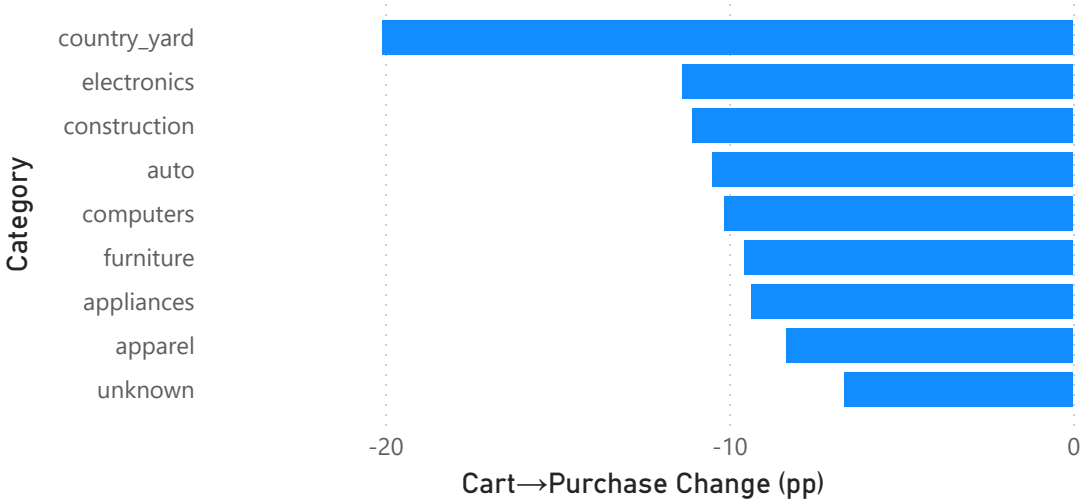

6.96M

Unknown Revenue Delta

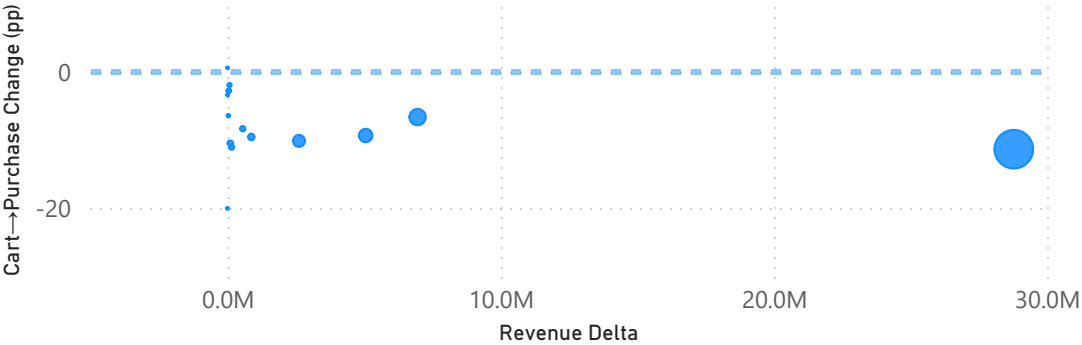

Top Category Revenue Growth Drivers

Largest Cart→Purchase Declines by Category

Growth vs. Conversion Risk by Category

Key Takeaway:
November growth was concentrated in electronics, unknown, appliances, and computers. Electronics was the largest growth driver, but also showed a major cart-to-purchase decline, making it the highest-priority category for deeper diagnostics.

CommercePulse | Electronics → Smartphone Drill-Down

Smartphones dominated electronics revenue growth, while multiple electronics subcategories experienced weaker cart-to-purchase efficiency.

177.82M

Smartphone November Revenue

86.64%

Smartphone Electronics Revenue Share (%)

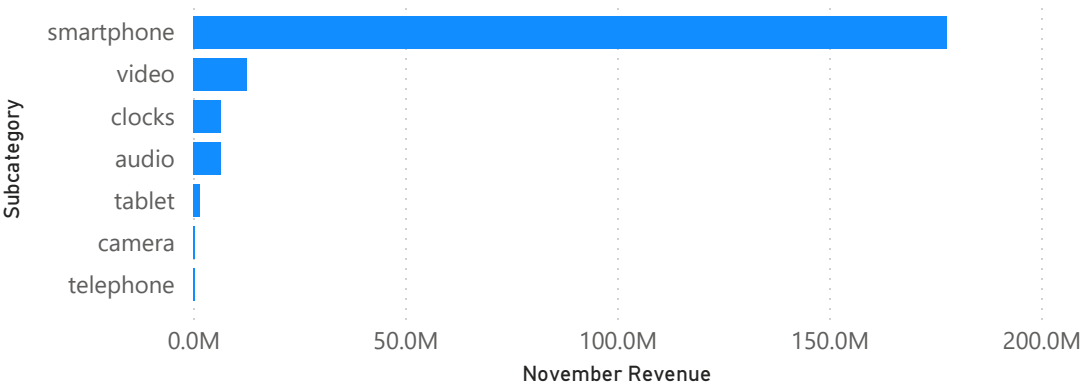

20.77M

Smartphone Revenue Delta

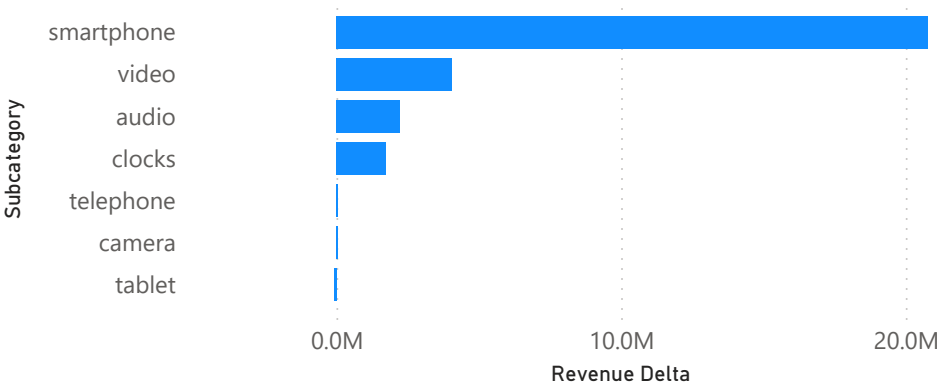

-11.65

Smartphone Cart→Purchase Change (pp)

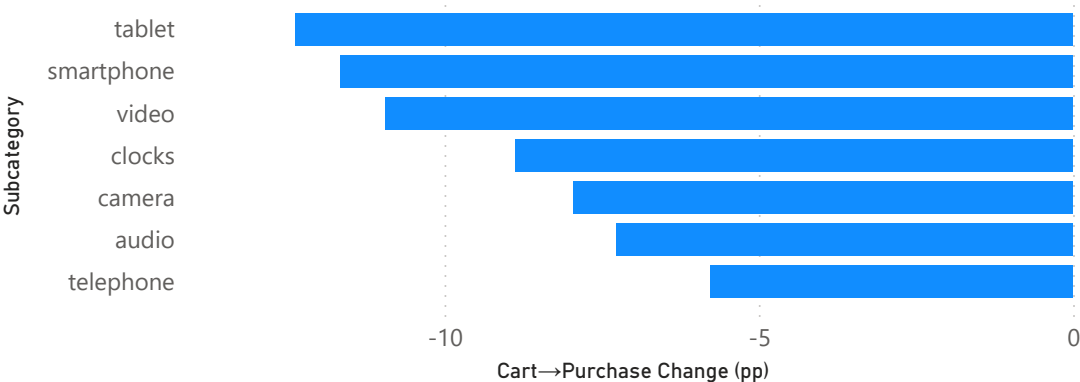

November Electronics Revenue by Subcategory

Electronics Revenue Growth by Subcategory

Cart→Purchase Change by Electronics Subcategory

Key Takeaway:

Smartphones generated the majority of electronics revenue and the largest revenue increase. However, smartphone cart-to-purchase conversion also declined sharply, making it the key segment for deeper brand and price-band diagnostics.

CommercePulse | Smartphone Brand Diagnostics

Apple and Samsung drove most smartphone revenue growth, while major brands also experienced weaker cart-to-purchase efficiency.

115.26M

Apple Nov Revenue

64.82%

Apple Smartphone Revenue Share (%)

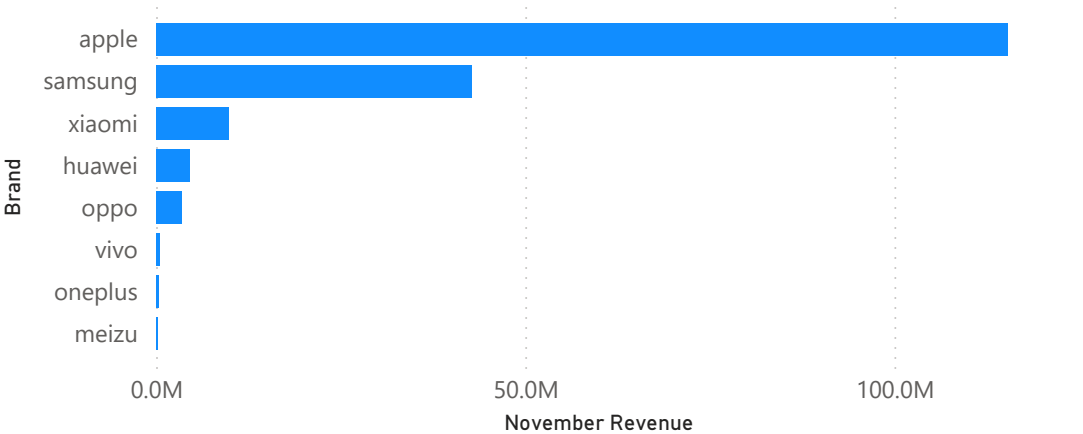

12.71M

Apple Revenue Delta

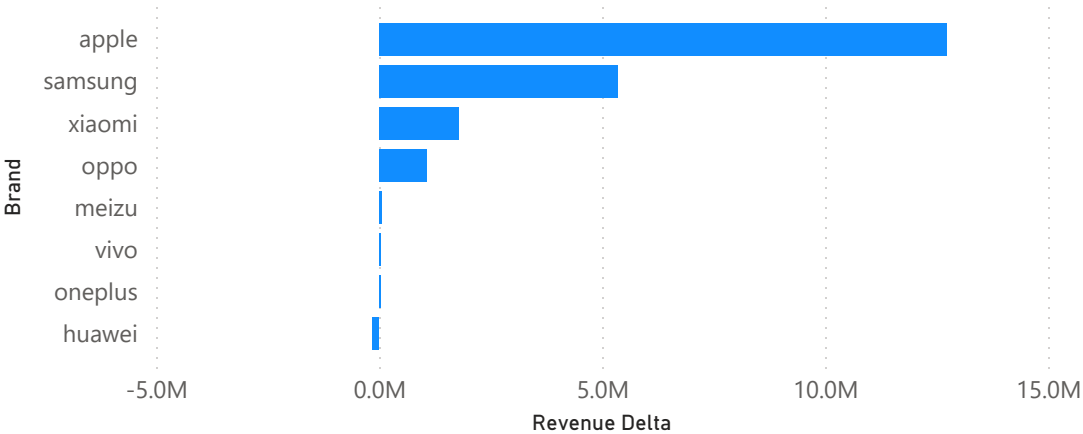

-12.07

Apple Cart→Purchase Change (pp)

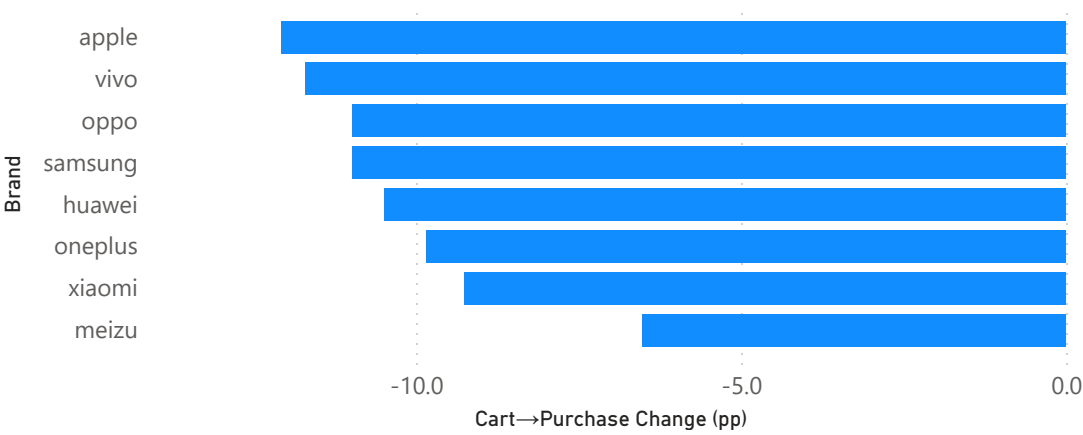

November Smartphone Revenue by Brand

Smartphone Revenue Growth by Brand

Cart→Purchase Change by Smartphone Brand

Key Takeaway:

Apple and Samsung dominated November smartphone revenue and accounted for most net smartphone growth. Apple was the highest-priority brand because it combined the largest revenue base, largest revenue increase, and a major cart-to-purchase decline.

CommercePulse | Smartphone Price-Band Diagnostics

Premium smartphone tiers drove November growth, while several price bands showed weaker cart-to-purchase efficiency.

9.15M

$800-$1199 Revenue Delta

44.06%

$800-$1199 Growth Share (%)

-13.53

$800-$1199 Cart→Purchase Change (pp)

5.90M

$1200+ Revenue Delta

November Smartphone Revenue by Price Band

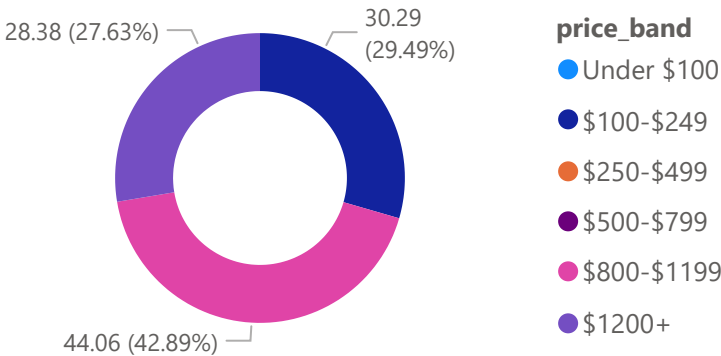

Smartphone Revenue Growth by Price Band

Cart→Purchase Change by Smartphone Price Band

Net Smartphone Growth Share by Price Band

Key Takeaway:

Smartphone growth was led by premium tiers, especially $800-$1199 and $1200+, while the $100-$249 value segment also expanded meaningfully. The $800-$1199 band was the highest-priority segment because it combined the largest revenue lift with a major cart-to-purchase decline.

CommercePulse | Brand × Price-Band Opportunity Matrix

Apple premium tiers and Samsung value-tier segments explain most smartphone revenue growth, while several high-value segments show conversion deterioration.

7.70M

Apple $800-$1199 Revenue Delta

6.10M

Apple $1200+ Revenue Delta

4.71M

Samsung $100-$249 Revenue Delta

-14.39

Samsung $250-$499 Cart→Purchase Change (pp)

Revenue Growth by Brand x Price Band

Cart→Purchase Change by Brand x Price Band

Growth vs. Conversion Risk by Brand x Price Band

Key Takeaway:

Smartphone growth was concentrated in a few brand-price segments. Apple $800-$1199 and Apple $1200+ drove premium growth, while Samsung $100-$249 created a major value-tier growth pocket. Samsung $250-$499 stood out as an underperformance segment due to revenue decline and sharp cart-to-purchase deterioration.